AIB-AXYS June 2025 Stock Recommendations

May 2025 Highlights

- Banking Sector Q1'25 Earning Season – The banking sector's Q1 2025 performance, reported in May, delivered mixed results. While most lenders posted higher earnings supported by cost reductions and the reclassification of government placements key challenges persisted. Interest income remained under pressure, with some banks reporting declines amid a low-rate environment. Non-funded income also weakened, primarily due to lower FX trading income as exchange rate stability led to compressions of trading spreads. Additionally, banks saw contraction in loan books as lenders grew cautious amid tempered asset quality. However, improved earnings were buoyed by a lower cost of funds, allowing institutions to capitalize on subdued interest rates. Moving forward, banks are expected to leverage these cost efficiencies to sustain profitability through 2025.
- KCB Group Completes Sale of National Bank of Kenya (NBK) to Access Bank PLC – KCB Group has successfully concluded the sale of its 100% stake in National Bank of Kenya (NBK) to Access Bank PLC, finalizing a transaction that commenced in March 2024. The deal's completion followed rigorous regulatory approvals, including a requirement from the Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) for Access Bank to review its operations in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) and the United Kingdom to mitigate overexposure risks in overseas markets. With the transaction now complete, KCB Group can redirect its focus toward strategic expansion in high-growth markets across its subsidiaries, optimizing its portfolio for future growth.
- Results of Sanlam's Rights Issue – Sanlam released the results of its rights issue, which was fully subscribed including underwriting. Under the entitlement, the rights issue received an 81.0% subscription, translating to KES 2.01 Bn. Under additional shares, a total of 5,062,718 shares were applied for, worth KES 25.3 Mn, pushing the subscription to KES 2.04 Bn which translated to 82.0% subscription. For full subscription, a total of 92,314,036 shares were undertaken under the Underwriting Agreement, translating to KES 461.6 Mn, bringing the total proceeds from the rights issue to KES 2.5 Bn. The additional shares taken by Sanlam Allianz increased its ownership, diluting non-participating shareholders' ownership. Sanlam aims to use the proceeds from the rights issue to settle its pending debt obligation with Stanbic Bank and lower its interest expense. This will help the firm focus on its underwriting business
- Profit Warnings by Kapchorua Tea and Williamson Tea – An oversupply of tea in the market and a stronger Kenyan shilling against the dollar - making tea more expensive - clouded profits for Kapchorua and Williamson Tea, compelling both companies to issue profit warnings as they project more than a 25.0% reduction in net earnings. Both companies had good dividend propositions; however, the recent decline in net earnings may limit dividend prospects. This has compelled us to downgrade our portfolio rating for Kapchorua from 'buy' to 'hold' as we go underweight on the same.
- Standard Group rights issue– In a bid to raise funding, Standard Group has announced plans for a rights issue to raise KES 1.50 Bn. The new shares will be issued at KES 5.29 per share, with an allocation ratio of 11 new shares for every 3 shares held. The company intends to use the proceeds to settle debts and bolster its working capital. Currently, the stock trades at KES 6.14 per share, representing a 16.1% discount to the rights issue price.

Global Markets Key Highlights

- US Q1'2025 Earning Season – Corporate earnings in the US came in slightly lower compared to the same period last year due to elevated costs stemming from trade policies. A major market mover, NVIDIA reported a 69.0% y/y revenue jump to USD 44.1 Bn - a 12.0% quarter-over-quarter increase. Data center revenue grew by 73.0% y/y to USD 39.1 Bn.
- Cooling labor markets – The US labor market showed signs of moderation in May, adding 139,000 jobs despite ongoing economic pressures from trade policies. While this figure came in higher than market expectations, it reflected a slowdown from April's 147,000 job gains. Looking ahead, further softening in the labor market is anticipated. Sector performance was mixed, with the manufacturing sector experiencing declines while healthcare posted positive gains
- European Central Bank (ECB) cuts rates – The ECB cut rates by 25 bps to 2.0% as expected, following inflation of 1.9% – slightly below its 2.0% target and projected to decline further. The Central Bank, however, signaled a pause in its cutting cycle in the near term. This rate reduction is anticipated to stimulate bank lending and support Eurozone economic growth. In the US, President Trump is piling pressure on Fed Chair Jerome Powell by pushing for a full percentage point rate cut, suggesting this would stimulate the economy. The Fed has, however, maintained rates at 4.50%-4.75% in a bid to tame inflation amid tariff concerns. The Fed will be closely watching this week's inflation numbers, which may play a part in influencing its future rate decisions.

Indices Commentary

In May, global markets showed signs of recovery as trade tensions eased following the US's 90-day tariff pause and positive trade discussions between the US and key partners like China and the UK. This optimism fueled rallies across major indices, with the NASDAQ leading gains at 9.6%. Strong corporate earnings, particularly in the information technology and communication services sectors, further bolstered performance. Year-to-date, European equities continued to outperform their US counterparts, aligning with the dollar's weaker trajectory. In Asia, the Nikkei 225 rose 5.3% amid advancing trade negotiations. While US labor markets cooled in May, job creation slowed compared to April. Nonetheless, higher-than-expected employment figures lifted market sentiment, contributing to a rally last week. Looking ahead, we expect trade tensions to ease further following productive US-China talks in London, offering cautious optimism.
