AIB-AXYS Weekly Fixed Income Note

4th May 2026

Key Highlights

- Spot market Treasury bills recorded a moderate recovery in demand, with overall subscription rising to 76.9% from the previous week's subdued levels of 57.4%, although the market remained undersubscribed. Investor appetite was largely skewed towards the short-term 91-day bids of KES 8.02Bn against offers of KES 4.00Bn, pointing to investors' preference for near-term liquidity. In contrast, the 182-day paper continued to underperform, receiving only KES 3.26Bn in bids against KES 10.00Bn offered, highlighting persistent investor aversion to the mid-tenor segment.
- The 91-day Treasury bill rate edged up to 8.04%. Similarly, yields on the 182-day paper recorded a marginal uptick of 32.48 bps, while the 364-day paper increased by 24.23 bps to 8.51%. The sharp increase in yields following higher inflation reported last week means that investors will demand higher returns on T bills in a bid to protect their real returns.
- The government is looking to raise KES 80.00Bn through the re-opening of the FXD1/2012/020, FXD1/2019/020 and FXD1/2021/025 bonds, which are earmarked for budgetary support in FY25/26. The bonds have a quoted tenor to maturity of 6.6 yrs, 13 yrs, and 20.1 yrs while the coupon rates are set at 12.0000%, 12.8730% and 13.9240%, respectively. Bidding is set to close on 6th May 2026. We will be issuing further bidding guidance.
- The government announced a bond switch, inviting investors to exchange holdings from FXD1/2017/010, a 10-year bond with a coupon rate of 12.9660% and approximately 1.2 years to maturity, into FXD1/2021/020, a 20-year bond with a coupon rate of 13.4440% and 15.2 years to maturity. The authorities are targeting to switch KES 10.00Bn, with the offer period running from 23rd April to 18th May 2026. The switch seeks to lengthen the government's debt maturity profile and ease near-term refinancing pressures, while offering investors an opportunity to lock in higher yields on longer-dated securities.
- Across the secondary bond market, the value of bonds traded decreased 46.8% w/w to KES 32.88 Bn from KES 61.77 Bn recorded a week prior. The NSE Bond Index witnessed an increase of 58 bps w/w to 1,174.18 points, driven largely by a decrease in the 2-year benchmark yields. The 9-year yield rose the most by 10.36 bps w/w, while the 2-year yield eased the most by 57.56 bps w/w.
- Yields on Kenya's Eurobond papers increased by an average of 17.34 bps w/w, in tandem with bond market performance in global markets.

Macroeconomic Developments

Exchange Rate

- The Kenya Shilling appreciated against the USD, closing the week at KES 129.19 from KES 129.32 the previous week, a marginal w/w appreciation of 0.1%. The Shilling's YTD depreciation against the USD stood at 0.1%.
- Official forex reserves decreased by 0.1% w/w to USD 13,226 Mn from USD 13,239 Mn. The current reserves now offer about 5.6 months of import cover, meeting the CBK's statutory requirement of 4 months. The reserves also met the EAC's convergence requirement of 4.5 months of import cover.

Liquidity

- The Kenya Shilling Overnight Interbank Average (KESONIA) closed the week at 8.75%. We expect KESONIA to remain broadly aligned with the CBR.

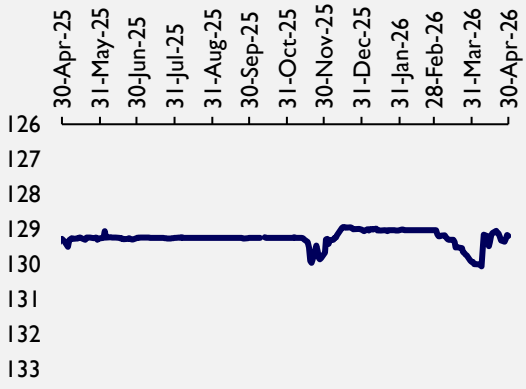

Economic Growth

- Kenya's GDP data was released. Economic growth slowed to 4.6% in 2025 from 4.7% in 2024, due to slower growth in the agriculture and services sectors. Despite being the largest contributor to GDP, agriculture slowed to 3.1% from 4.4% in 2024, on the back of unfavorable weather, especially in the last quarter of 2025. The services sector slowed to 5.3% from 5.6%, while after a challenging 2024, the industrial sector staged a recovery, growing by 5.7% compared to 1.1% in 2024, supported by growth in construction, mining and quarrying, and electricity and water supply sectors.

Kenya Consumer Price Index– April 2026

- April inflation came in at 5.6%, a notable increase from 4.4% recorded in March 2026, coming in above our expectations and signaling a pickup in price pressures. This implies that consumer prices were 5.6% higher in April 2026 compared to April 2025, remaining within the CBK's 2.5%–7.5% target band but edging closer to the upper bound.
- Food prices recorded mixed movements during the month, with declines in items such as cabbage and oranges offering partial relief, while tomatoes (+9.0%), cooking oil, and potatoes registered notable increases, pointing to emerging supply-side pressures. Meanwhile, transport inflation surged, driven by sharp increases in fuel prices, with petrol and diesel rising by 10.8% and 17.9%, respectively, feeding into higher matatu and boda boda fares. Housing-related costs also rose moderately, with increases in LPG prices offsetting slight declines in electricity tariffs.
- Core inflation rose to 2.8% from 2.1% in March, while non-core inflation accelerated to 13.4%, highlighting intensifying pressures from volatile components, particularly food and energy. This suggests that while underlying inflation remains relatively contained, headline inflation is increasingly being driven by external and supply-side shocks.
- Looking ahead, inflation is expected to remain within the target range but with a clear upward bias, as the recent increase in fuel prices and elevated geopolitical tensions continue to pose risks through higher global oil prices and imported inflation. While food supply conditions may offer some near-term support, sustained pressure from energy costs and exchange rate movements could gradually filter into broader price levels in the coming months
