AIB-AXYS Weekly Fixed Income Note

11th May 2026

Key Highlights

- Spot market Treasury bills recorded a strong rebound in investor demand, with the overall subscription rate rising to 122.6% from 76.9% recorded the previous week, signaling renewed market appetite for government securities amid elevated yields and persistent risk aversion. Demand was largely concentrated in the shorter-tenor papers, with the 91-day and 182-day bills heavily oversubscribed, receiving bids of KES 9.74Bn and KES 14.52Bn against offers of KES 4.00Bn and KES 10.00Bn. In contrast, the 364-day paper remained undersubscribed at 51.6%, attracting KES 5.16Bn in bids against KES 10.00Bn offered. The sharp recovery in demand reflects improving liquidity conditions and heightened preference for safer fixed-income instruments amid continued geopolitical uncertainty.
- The 91-day Treasury bill rate edged up to 8.19%. Similarly, yields on the 182-day paper recorded a marginal downtick of 0.15 bps, while the 364-day paper increased by 0.12 bps to 8.51%. The recent increase in yields, following higher-than-reported inflation, means investors will demand higher returns on T-bills to protect their real returns.
- In the results from the reopened FXD1/2012/020, FXD1/2019/020, and FXD1/2021/025 the government registered a performance rate of 132.52% with total bids received amounting to KES 106.02 Bn against a target of KES 80.00 Bn. The total amount of accepted bids was KES 94.04 Bn. The weighted average rate of accepted bids for FXD1/2012/020, FXD1/2019/020, and FXD1/2021/025 was 12.4573%, 13.2126%, and 13.6949%, respectively (slightly above our competitive bidding range recommendation), while the coupon rates for the bonds were 12.000%, 12.8730%, and 13.9240%, respectively.
- The government announced a bond switch, inviting investors to exchange holdings from FXD1/2017/010, a 10-year bond with a coupon rate of 12.9660% and approximately 1.2 years to maturity, into FXD1/2021/020, a 20-year bond with a coupon rate of 13.4440% and 15.2 years to maturity. The authorities are targeting to switch KES 10.00Bn, with the offer period running from 23rd April to 18th May 2026. The switch seeks to lengthen the government's debt maturity profile and ease near-term refinancing pressures, while offering investors an opportunity to lock in higher yields on longer-dated securities.
- Across the secondary bond market, the value of bonds traded decreased 32.2% w/w to KES 22.29 Bn from KES 32.88 Bn recorded a week prior. The NSE Bond Index witnessed an increase of 9 bps w/w to 1,174.19 points, driven largely by a decrease in the 12-year benchmark yields. The 2-year yield rose the most by 94.87 bps w/w, while the 12-year yield eased the most by 25.38 bps w/w.
- Yields on Kenya's Eurobond papers decreased by an average of 53.06 bps w/w.

Macroeconomic Developments

Exchange Rate

- The Kenya Shilling remained broadly stable against the USD, closing the week at KES 129.19, unchanged from the previous week. Consequently, the Shilling's YTD depreciation against the USD remained at 0.1%.
- Official forex reserves increased by 1.4% w/w to USD 13,414 Mn from USD 13,226 Mn. The current reserves now offer about 5.7 months of import cover, meeting the CBK's statutory requirement of 4 months. The reserves also met the EAC's convergence requirement of 4.5 months of import cover.

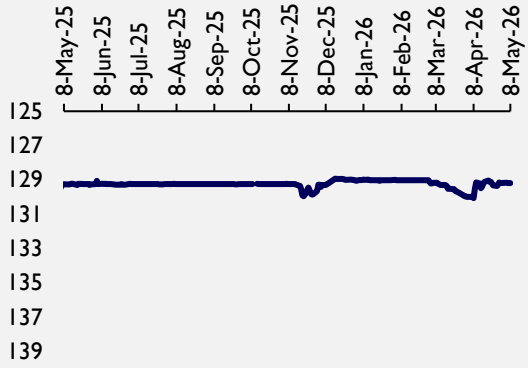

Liquidity

- The Kenya Shilling Overnight Interbank Average (KESONIA) closed the week at 8.75%. We expect KESONIA to remain broadly aligned with the CBR.

Stanbic Bank Kenya PMI– April 2026

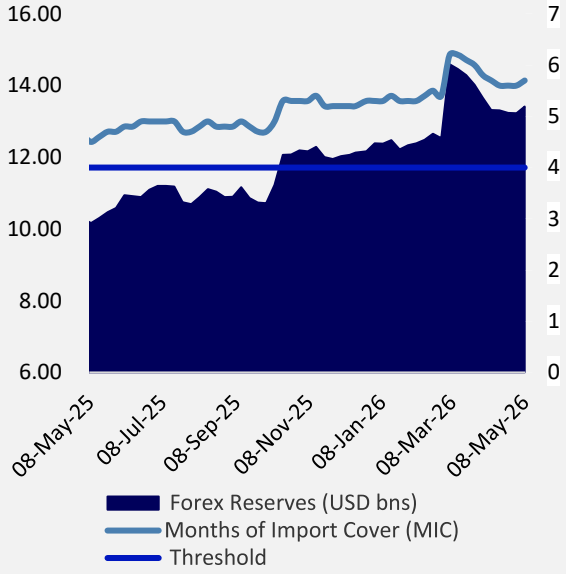

- The Stanbic Bank Kenya PMI marginally improved to 49.4 in April 2026 from 47.7 in March, although it remained below the 50.0 neutral threshold for the second consecutive month, signaling a continued contraction in private sector activity. The softer business conditions were largely attributed to rising fuel prices, elevated transport and shipping costs, and uncertainty stemming from the ongoing Middle East conflict, which continued to weigh on consumer demand and business sentiment.
- Output and new orders contracted for a second straight month, albeit at a slower pace compared to March. Businesses cited subdued customer spending amid rising prices and broader economic uncertainty, particularly across the wholesale & retail, agriculture, and services sectors. Nonetheless, some firms reported improved client interest supported by product innovation, expansion initiatives, and stronger marketing efforts, helping moderate the pace of decline.
- Input cost pressures intensified sharply during the month, with overall cost inflation rising to its highest level since December 2023. Survey respondents primarily linked the increase to higher fuel prices, elevated shipping charges, and shortages of key materials. Consequently, firms passed part of the higher costs to consumers, leading to the fastest increase in output charges in nearly two-and-a-half years.
- Despite the challenging operating environment, purchasing activity remained expansionary for the seventh consecutive month, while inventory levels rebounded as firms moved to build precautionary stock buffers ahead of anticipated supply disruptions and further price increases. Employment conditions also remained relatively resilient, with firms continuing to hire temporary workers to support ongoing projects and expansion plans.
- Looking ahead, business confidence softened further amid concerns surrounding geopolitical tensions, imported inflation, and cost pressures. However, firms remained cautiously optimistic, supported by ongoing diversification efforts, expansion strategies, and expectations of gradual improvement in demand conditions over the medium term.
