AIB-AXYS Weekly Fixed Income Note

18th May 2026

Key Highlights

- Spot market Treasury bills remained oversubscribed, recording an overall subscription rate of 110.0%, albeit moderating from 122.6% recorded the previous week. Investor demand remained concentrated in the 91-day and 364-day papers, which received bids worth KES 7.32Bn and KES 11.24Bn against offers of KES 4.00Bn and KES 10.00Bn, respectively. In contrast, the 182-day paper remained undersubscribed, attracting KES 7.85Bn in bids against KES 10.00Bn offered, suggesting continued investor preference for short-term liquidity positioning and selective appetite for longer-tenor yield opportunities. Notably, the 91-day paper recorded a higher accepted average yield than the 182-day paper, signaling tighter near-term liquidity conditions amid tight liquidity conditions.
- The 91-day Treasury bill rate edged up to 8.32%. Similarly, yields on the 182-day paper recorded a marginal uptick of 0.23 bps, while the 364-day paper increased by 4.86 bps to 8.56%. The recent increase in yields, following higher-than-reported inflation, means investors will demand higher returns on T-bills to protect their real returns.
- The government is looking to raise KES 50.00Bn through the re-opening of the FXD3/2019/015 and FXD1/2021/020 bonds, which are earmarked for budgetary support in FY25/26. The bonds have a quoted tenor to maturity of 8.3 yrs and 15.3 yrs while the coupon rates are set at 12.3400% and 13.4440%, respectively. Bidding is set to close on 20th May 2026. We will be issuing further bidding guidance.
- The government announced a bond switch, inviting investors to exchange holdings from FXD1/2017/010, a 10-year bond with a coupon rate of 12.9660% and approximately 1.2 years to maturity, into FXD1/2021/020, a 20-year bond with a coupon rate of 13.4440% and 15.2 years to maturity. The authorities are targeting to switch KES 10.00Bn, with the offer period running from 23rd April to 18th May 2026. The switch seeks to lengthen the government's debt maturity profile and ease near-term refinancing pressures, while offering investors an opportunity to lock in higher yields on longer-dated securities.
- Across the secondary bond market, the value of bonds traded increased 84.2% w/w to KES 41.04 Bn from KES 22.29 Bn recorded a week prior. The NSE Bond Index witnessed a decrease of 95 bps w/w to 1,163.00 points, driven largely by an increase in the 20-year benchmark yields. The 20-year yield rose the most by 58.75 bps w/w, while the 2-year yield eased the most by 72.17 bps w/w.
- Yields on Kenya's Eurobond papers increased by an average of 5.20 bps w/w as escalating geopolitical tensions in the Middle East triggered heightened investor risk aversion and pressured sentiment across frontier market debt.

Macroeconomic Developments

Exchange Rate

- The Kenya Shilling depreciated marginally against the USD, closing the week at KES 129.33 from KES 129.19 recorded the previous week, translating to a w/w depreciation of 0.1%. Consequently, the Shilling's YTD depreciation against the USD stood at 0.2%.
- Official forex reserves increased by 0.7% w/w to USD 13,507 Mn from USD 13,414 Mn. The current reserves now offer about 5.7 months of import cover, meeting the CBK's statutory requirement of 4 months. The reserves also met the EAC's convergence requirement of 4.5 months of import cover.

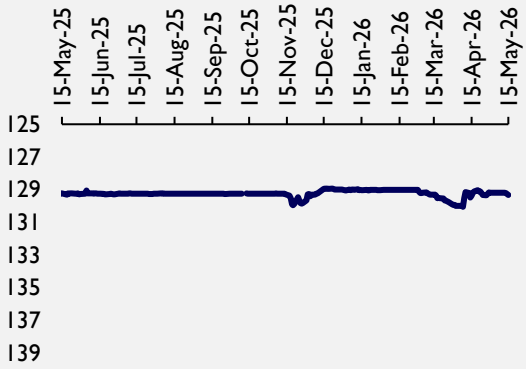

Liquidity

- The Kenya Shilling Overnight Interbank Average (KESONIA) closed the week at 8.75%. We expect KESONIA to remain broadly aligned with the CBR.

EPRA Pump Price Review – May 2026

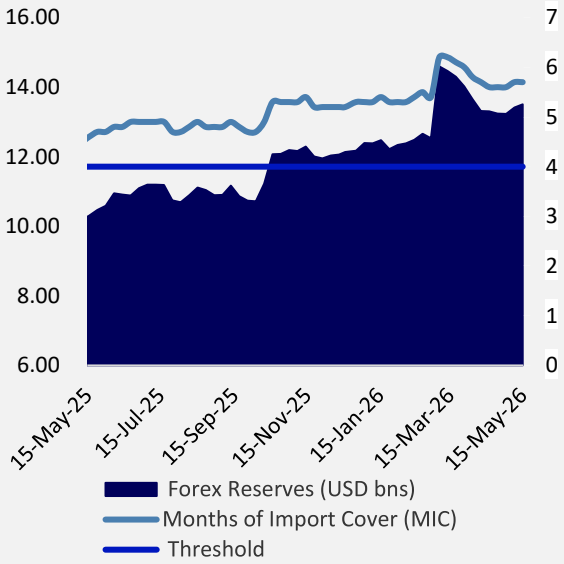

- The Energy & Petroleum Regulatory Authority (EPRA) released the maximum retail pump prices for the period 15th May 2026 to 14th June 2026, with prices increasing sharply following a surge in global oil prices during the review period.
- In Nairobi, Super Petrol and Diesel prices increased by KES 16.65/litre and KES 46.29/litre to retail at KES 211.19 and KES 243.64 per litre, respectively, while Kerosene remained unchanged at KES 152.78 per litre. The adjustment marks one of the sharpest monthly increases in fuel prices in recent review cycles, particularly for diesel, reflecting elevated global energy market volatility.
- The increase was largely driven by higher landed costs, with Super Petrol rising by 10.0% to USD 906.23 per cubic metre from USD 823.87, while Diesel surged by 20.3% to USD 1,291.98 per cubic metre from USD 1,073.82. Kerosene recorded a comparatively modest increase of 1.6% to USD 1,332.73 per cubic metre. The sharp escalation in import costs reflects tightening global supply conditions and heightened geopolitical tensions, particularly across key oil-producing regions.
- EPRA noted that the government cushioned consumers through the Petroleum Development Levy (PDL), partially offsetting what would have been an even steeper increase in retail prices. However, despite the intervention, the magnitude of the upward adjustment highlights the growing pass-through effect of elevated international oil prices and elevated import costs.
- Looking ahead, pump prices are expected to remain exposed to upside risks amid persistent geopolitical tensions, volatile global crude markets, and lingering supply chain concerns. While government stabilization measures may continue to provide temporary relief, sustained increases in international oil prices and currency pressures could trigger further upward adjustments in subsequent pricing cycles.
- We expect inflation to continue to pick up in the near term on the back of high energy prices as well as imported commodities. Prolonged-elevated inflation may trigger an inflection point to the monetary path.
