AXYS Weekly Fixed Income Note

27th July 2026

Key Highlights

- Spot market Treasury bills remained oversubscribed for the week, although overall subscription moderated to 137.5% from 157.2% recorded in the previous auction. Investor demand continued to be concentrated in the 91-day paper, which attracted KES 22.06Bn in bids against KES 8.00Bn offered, while the 182-day bill remained modestly oversubscribed at 115.6%. In contrast, demand for the 364-day paper remained subdued, attracting KES 4.88Bn in bids against an offer of KES 10.00Bn. We are of the view that the government is looking to keep yields lower, as evidenced by this auction, as well as by yield performance in the recent bond auction.
- Accepted yields softened across all tenors, with the 91-day, 182-day and 364-day Treasury bills declining by 4.07 bps, 1.50 bps and 0.54 bps to 8.79%, 8.95% and 9.04%, respectively.
- In the results of the reopened FXD1/2019/020 and FXD1/2022/025 bond auctions, the Government recorded a performance rate of 214.82%, with total bids received amounting to KES 85.93Bn against an offer of KES 40.00Bn. The total amount of accepted bids stood at KES 63.28Bn. The weighted average accepted yield for FXD1/2019/020 was 13.9234% (well in line with our recommended competitive bid range, while FXD1/2022/025 was 14.4432% (well in line with our recommended competitive bid range). The coupon rates for the respective bonds were 12.8730% and 14.1880%, respectively.
- The Treasury's switch auction recorded an 81.6% performance rate, with KES 8.16Bn in bids received and KES 7.95Bn accepted against the KES 10.00Bn target, resulting in KES 7.91Bn of the near-term FXD1/2021/005 bond being exchanged into the longer-dated FXD1/2012/020 issue. We view the switch as supportive of the government's medium-term debt strategy, as it helps smooth the domestic redemption profile, lengthen debt maturities and reduce refinancing risk, while providing investors with an opportunity to reposition into a longer-duration security at a weighted average accepted yield of 12.81%.
- Across the secondary bond market, the value of bonds traded increased by 44.4% w/w to KES 46.90 Bn from KES 32.49 Bn recorded a week prior. The NSE Bond Index witnessed an increase of 38 bps w/w to 1,131.29 points, driven largely by a decrease in the 30-year benchmark yields. The 6-year yield rose the most by 32.42 bps w/w, while the 30-year yield eased the most by 89.08 bps w/w.
- Yields on Kenya's Eurobond papers increased by an average of 18.10 bps w/w. This rhymed with the performance of the global bond market. Yields ticked up following intensified attacks between the US and Iran, sending energy prices higher and, in turn, triggering inflationary risk. Additionally, investors were compelled to seek higher returns.

Macroeconomic Developments

Exchange Rate

- The Kenya Shilling depreciated marginally against the USD, closing the week at KES 129.53 from KES 129.30 recorded the previous week, translating to a w/w depreciation of 0.2%. Consequently, the Shilling's YTD depreciation against the USD stood at 0.4%.
- Official forex reserves decreased by 2.2% w/w to USD 13,854 Mn from USD 14,169 Mn. The current reserves now offer about 5.9 Months of import cover, meeting the CBK's statutory requirement of 4 months. The reserves also met the EAC's convergence requirement of 4.5 months of import cover.

Liquidity

- The Kenya Shilling Overnight Interbank Average (KESONIA) closed the week at 8.75%. We expect KESONIA to remain broadly aligned with the CBR.

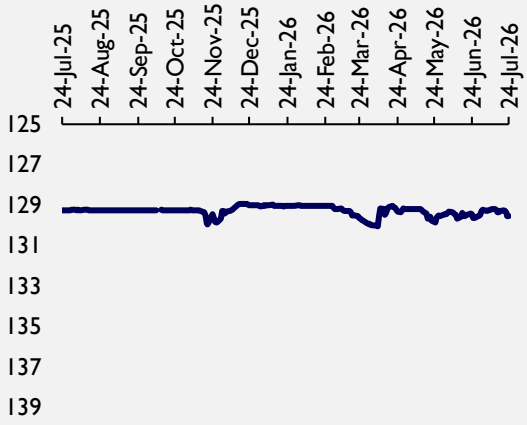

July Inflation projections

- Inflation print is due this week; we project inflation to fall within the range of 6.1%-6.5%, supported by moderate fuel prices (government intervention trimmed VAT to 8.0%) and stable food prices.

EPRA Pump Price Review – July 2026

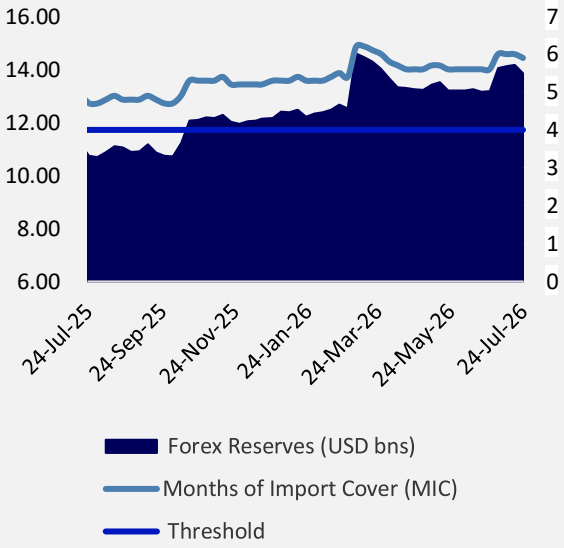

- The Energy and Petroleum Regulatory Authority (EPRA) retained maximum retail pump prices unchanged for the period 15th July 2026 to 14th August 2026, with Super Petrol, Diesel and Kerosene remaining at KES 214.03, KES 222.86 and KES 191.38 per litre, respectively. The decision comes despite a significant decline in international landed fuel costs during June and reflects continued government intervention aimed at cushioning consumers from heightened volatility in global energy markets.
- To maintain price stability, the government extended the 8.0% VAT relief on petroleum products for a further three months and utilized KES 945.0Mn from the Petroleum Development Levy (PDL) Fund. Although the average landed cost of Super Petrol, Diesel and Kerosene declined by 15.8%, 19.8% and 18.3% m/m, respectively, the uncertainty surrounding developments in the Middle East continues to pose upside risks to global energy prices.
- Looking ahead, sustained geopolitical tensions or disruptions to major oil supply routes could reverse the recent improvement in landed fuel costs, limiting the government's ability to maintain stable pump prices and exerting renewed upward pressure on transport costs and domestic inflation. Conversely, a sustained de-escalation in geopolitical tensions would support lower international oil prices, creating room for a downward adjustment in domestic pump prices in subsequent pricing cycles.
